GO OUTSIDE! Pathways personalized creative outdoor experiences satisfy basic human desires for relaxation, contemplation, adventure and intimacy w the natural world.

Discover and explore little known “wild” areas in South Jersey and outdoor “gems” within the 360 square mile Rancocas Creek Watershed. Pathways active approach in preserving and protecting our natural world and ecology is centered on being and doing; to witness, year-round and first-hand an ever-changing landscape, upfront and personal.

Individualized tailored experiences are a guide that connects participants to the outdoors and forge a bridge that connects our natural world to themselves, others and their community.

Together we'll explore forests, marshes, waterways and more:

- Look and Follow Wildlife Tracks.
- Listen to Earth, Naturally.
- Feel Nature via Hand's On Activities
- Identify Plants, Birds, Ecology, Nature.
- Develop Hidden Skills and New Enjoyment.
- Discover How Wildlife Lives, Resides and Sleep
- Develop Rhythms, Rhymes and Write Poems.
- Play, Get Mega Muddy, Get Chilly Cold, Get Warm, Have FUN

Naturally with the environment participants experience:

- Empathy
- Patience
- Cooperation
- Welcome Differences
- Examine How Patterns Change
- Healthy, Safe, Activities That Are the Foundation to Wellness

Venture into a forest, along a tidal marsh, stroll within a cranberry bog, hear a water drop falling, see tree's as far as you can see, stop and listen to hear nothing but wind rustling the underbrush and woodlands. Experience new activities. Pathways enhance one's awareness of the fragility of self, of the environment and of nature. We welcome your involvement.
